From: VELDA WELCH

Doug, I just had a nice visit with Gus and Mary Pooler. They both were happy, which is not unusual, everything is going well with them. I ask Gus if he was the chief cook. He said he does breakfast and lunch, Mary does dinner. Breakfast and lunch is pretty easy he says with a chuckle. Mary depends mostly on the wheel chair to navigate the house. Gus doesn't like to drive at night but Mary said later on when the days are longer they will try to come to a meeting, maybe one of our outings.

She said she enjoys getting the newsletter and noticed we have new officers this year.

It is always a pleasure to talk with them, always up beat.

Gus always has a project going. Now he is working on his jeep

Well, I did something no male should have ever done; I forgot an anniversary. I was only two months late remembering, does that make it that much worse? It was my 50th anniversary, can I dig a hole any deeper? Amy was very understanding about the whole incident; she remembered, but I didn't.

How could I have forgotten that 50 years ago (January 1970) I purchased my little 1966 Mustang coupe that Amy and I are still enjoying today. A lot of memories with that car and we are very glad we are still able to enjoy it ourselves, but to have it available for others to possibly enjoy.

From VELDA

I hope everyone saw the article in Friday Newspaper (Feb 7) of Children's Wishes and Dreams effort to make a wish come true for Sam Miller. Sam's wish was for a Service Dog to help his life be better. He has "intractable Epilepsy".

I won't go into detail here but it came to me that, our club members know we give each year to CW/ Dreams, but do you understand this nonprofit Organization? It is served by volunteers, which I am a part of.

Heidi Anderson is the Executive Director. There are NO paid employees and all of the wishes are for kids, only in our valley, from 3 to 21 years of age. Children with physical or mental health handicaps.

I was on hand when Sam met his companion. (Finn). What a special time. I hope you can read the article.

Meeting adjourned at 8:10 p.m.

- 1968 Bullitt movie car sells for 3,75 Million; (most valuable Ford Mustang ever), in 1968 it sold for around $3,500.00
  - We currently have a tendency to call the mustang used in the movie “Bullitt”, but Bullitt was Steve McQueen’s last name in the movie, what was his first name?
  - McQueen had an unusual reputation for demanding free items in bulk from studios when agreeing to do a film; such as electric razors, jeans, and other items. It was later discovered that McQueen donated these things to the Boys Republic reformatory school, where he spent time in his teen years. McQueen made occasional visits to the school to spend time with the students, often to play pool and speak about his experiences.
  - Rumor has it that the one surviving 1968 Dodge Charger from Bullitt was restored and sold for 1 million dollars. Story continues that this Charger started off with a yellow paint job and was painted black for the movie. After the movie it was returned to yellow and then painted gold prior to resale to a Dodge dealership in California.

Okay, I still have some room to fill: Some of you might remember Andy Rooney; he was best known to most of us by his short commentary at the end of “60 Minutes”. I happened upon one of his books titled; “My War”. His experiences during WWII. Some of his quotes I thought was worth sharing. This might be considered a little unusual for our newsletter, and Andy has always been a little “out-there”, but I hope these make you think.

- The process by which each of us acquires a reputation isn’t independent of our character. It almost always depends more on the decisions we make than on chance occurrences.
  - We’re all confronted with so many opportunities to take a stand in our lives that we have to choose them wisely.
  - There are no more heroes in war than in peace. It’s just that in peacetime heroism is not so dramatic, is not apt to be life-threatening, and so doesn’t call as much attention to itself.
  - If you think the world is selfish and rotten go to the cemetery at Colleville overlooking Omaha Beach. See what one group of men did for another on D-Day, June 6, 1944.
