News from David and Audrey Haynes 27 July 2019

Left early this morning for an open car show in Arlington, OR which is only 25 miles away except it is on the other side of the Columbia River. To get to a bridge and then to the show is an hour and a half. The 62 Studebaker has AC and it was a hot day so it got the call. It ran good, and everything was ok until we crossed the river and made a rest stop. The clutch would not disengage so I couldn't shift the transmission into gear. No grinding or noise, just would not go in gear. Even with the engine off it was hard to put in gear. With the pedal pushed down it was still engaged so it would not start. After setting for a while and slamming the shifter back and forth it went into 3rd. We took off in 3rd and managed to jerk it into 4th and made it home. Once there, we jumped into my Audrey's 67 Mustang and headed for the show. Got there late and was the last car to register. They gave away about a dozen awards and it was easy to tell who the judges were. All but three went to Chevys. A 68 Mustang, the only car in its class won muscle car. The other two were voted on by the participants and the general public. Participants choice was a 64 Ford Fairlane and the people's choice when to a 1949 Studebaker. Six other Mustangs were there.

Real good to hear from you guys. Glad you made it back home without a tow. Doug H.

National Night Out; Selah, WA. August 6th (6-8pm)

There were 12 cars in attendance. One non-mustang belonged to friends of ours who brought their 1958 Ford retractable hardtop. This day started off with temperatures over 100 degrees so I'm sure that might have had something to do with the count being down with the companion group of VW's who parked near us. But we had nice shade and good cloud cover later in the evening. The Black Hawk helicopter made a pass over, but did not land as in years past. Free hot dogs, chips and drinks for all. Sheriff's department was on hand as well as Selah PD. There was a dunking booth as well as a car that you could take your frustrations out on with the use of a sledgehammer. The Fire Department used that same car to show how their jaws of life worked. We also had a preliminary discussion with the President of the VW club concerning the possibility next year of getting the various car clubs in the valley together and doing joint cruises to different towns in the valley. Craig own the award for most likely to be pulled over by PD.
